Yarra Trams' bizarre sneakiness rolls on and on

4 September 2019

Just when you thought Yarra Trams' behaviour could not get any stranger, members were sent yet another misleading bulletin from Yarra Trams today. Once again it is full of omissions and inaccuracies. Why does Yarra Trams refuse to be honest with its own employees?!

The facts are that the RTBU agreed to meet Yarra Trams after our Tram Executive meeting on Thursday. Bargaining meetings have been organised for Tuesday and Wednesday next week. Of course, true to their sneaky form, Yarra Trams neglected to tell you this in their bulletin. Instead they weirdly claimed that the RTBU refuses to meet or progress negotiations. What bizarre nonsense!

We think that the real reason Yarra Trams sent you such a strange bulletin is because they are feeling embarrassed about their performance at the Fair Work Commission conference on Monday. Yarra Trams turned up to the conference completely unable or unwilling to explain their own claims. Yarra Trams looked very foolish!

Instead of sending members such bizarre bulletins, Yarra Trams needs to lift their game! Yarra Trams should commit to behaving in a professional manner and to not insulting members with misleading communications.

We will not tolerate sneakiness from Yarra Trams. And we know that members will not either.

We will not take a backward step. Together we will achieve a fair deal!
